Imugene strengthens poultry patent protection

Key Fowl Adenoviral Delivery Vector patent granted in Europe

Imugene (ASX: IMU) has been granted a key patent for its Fowl Adenoviral Delivery Vector technology in Europe. The Fowl Adenoviral Delivery Vector is the basis of all Imugene's poultry vaccines including the Company's lead products, the Poultry Productivity Enhancer and the Avian Influenza Vaccine.

Another vaccine for the disease coccidiosis is also being constructed for an international animal health company using the Fowl Adenoviral Delivery Vector.

Imugene now has patent protection for the Fowl Adenoviral Delivery Vector in both Europe and the US, in addition to other important poultry producing countries. The granting of this key patent is very significant as Europe and the US are the world's biggest volume and value markets for Imugene's poultry products.

About Imugene

Imugene specialises in commercialising animal health products for production animals including pigs and poultry.

Imugene owns the worldwide rights to the Fowl Adenoviral Vector Delivery System for poultry and the Porcine Adenoviral Vector Delivery System for pigs. Imugene has successfully licensed the first product based on the Fowl Adenoviral Vector Delivery System – the Poultry Productivity Enhancer.

Imugene's poultry and pig portfolio is targeting a worldwide US$3 billion annual market with four lead vaccine products under development and a strong product pipeline. Consumer demands for disease free and residue free food will bolster Imugene's prospects.

Imugene's products safely protect against disease and reduce or eliminate the use of antibiotics and harmful chemicals in animals. Animal antibiotics and chemicals in the human food chain have been linked to the emergence of dangerous resistant bacteria in people and food residues.
